CAPITOL COMMISSION

RESIGNS AT REQUEST OF GOV.
CRUCE—BOARD OF AFFAIRS
TO SUPERVISE.

Oklahoma City, June 20.—Tate Brady of Tulsa and Boone Williams of Lehigh, democrats members of the State Capitol Commission, in response to a request from Gov. Lee Cruce, tendered their resignations in a joint letter to the governor delivered today. Dr. Lee Bennett of Muskogee the third commissioner, has not been heard from.

It is the governor's intention, according to correspondence passing between him and the commissioners, to place the work of building a state house up to the State Board of Affairs, and he says that since the Capitol Development Company of Oklahoma City, which in a contract made with Gov. Haskell to give the state $1,000,000 for a Capitol building, has signified its intention of keeping the agreement, something must be done that will place the state in position to do so. The governor requesting the resignations, written on June 3, in part says:

"You know how I have stood with reference to the Capitol Commission. Since the Putnam site has been abandoned and the real estate feature connected with the property is no longer to be handled by the capitol commission, I have always felt that continuance of the commission was an expense not to be justified, and that the building could just as properly and cheaply be erected through the State Board of Affairs as the capitol commission. I still hold to that position, and believe that by putting this work into the hands of the Board of Affairs that it will save considerable money to the state.

"In order that my ideas may be carried out, I think that can only be done by members of the Capitol Commission tendering their resignations. In making this request of you I want to state distinctly there is no fault found with any member of the Capitol Commission. you are all personal friends of mine, and if the commission was to be continued there would be no change in the commission by me."

Commissioners Brady and Williams in acknowledging receipt of the governor's letter say that it is taken "as notice of our removal from office" and that they are ready to deliver the records to the State Board of Affairs. "The people first created the capitol commission," it says, "and it was again created by the legislature in special session" and calls attention to the regular session having declined to abolish the commission after the governor by special message requested that it be done.

"We believe the two offices are incompatible and can not be filled by the same persons." The commissioners' letter continues: "If not so, why did the legislature and the people create two such offices? Your views do not therefore coincide either with the people's or the legislature's."

The commissioners say they can not see how the governor can hold to strict terms of the contract which provides that the company shall pay to the state $25,000 monthly, without further legislation, since the constitution provides that no money, even though managed by the state, shall be paid out in absence of specific appropriation by the legislature. After discussing the situation the letter continues:

"The responsibility having been assumed by you of discharge of this body, we are ready to surrender our commissions, but now sound a note of warning to those who will succeed us, that the experience of different states justifies us in concluding that capitol buildings are the special hobby of the unscrupulous and are more difficult to erect, adequate to the needs of the people, than those who have not studied the matter contemplate. What we have expended came from the $71,200 provided by contract with Gov. Haskell at the instance of the lower house of the legislature, and yet, although the good people of Oklahoma City have thus paid us our salary and expenses, and not the taxpayers, we have had hundreds of people tell us they were not will to be taxed to have a special commission look after their capitol building. There have been $700,000 irrevocably lost to the people of Oklahoma already in this Capitol matter and we doubt if all the economical practices of all departments of state for a term can equal this amount."

TRADE DAY FOR ADA

RETAIL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION SETS THIRD MONDAY IN JULY AS DATE.

Last evening a special meeting of the Retailers Association was held to consider the question of establishing a Trade Day at Ada. It was finally decided to hold the first of these days on the third Monday in July. All the usual features of a Trade Day will be made a part of this one. It is the intention of the promoters to make the occasion of a big coming together of all elements of citizenship of Pontotoc county. It is also intended to lend proper encouragement to all producers of fine agricultural products and livestock. Suitable premiums will be given and everybody made to feel at home.

This afternoon S. M. Shaw, G. M. Ramsey, R. W. Simpson and C. S. Wood are canvassing the town for donations and when seen by the News reporter, were having fairly good success. In this move the Retailers will have the active support of the Chamber of Commerce.

TEXAS MUST DEPEND UPON JUNE CORN

Fort Worth, Tex., June 21.—Texas only dependence for a corn crop this year must be in June corn, squaw corn or milo maize and Kaffir corn, according to W. T. Loudermilk, president of the Farmers' union, who returned home Monday morning after a tour of a large territory south and southwest of the city.

Johnson, Comanche, Bosque, McLennan, Bell, Brown, Menard, Mason, McCulloch, San Saba, and Mills counties were included in the itinerary of the Farmers' union head and he reports that in all of those counties, with the exception of a few spots, corn is beyond redemption and that unless the farmers plant a summer variety of corn they will be without feed products this winter.

In several of the counties the farmers anticipated a drought by planting squaw corn and they are now enjoying roasting ears while their neighbors are sitting around bemoaning the fact that their crop has been sacrificed to the drought.

The cotton crop is about twenty days late this year in most of the sections visited by him, Mr. Loudermilk declares.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 21.—Religious belief is no defense for a parent who refuses to provide medical attention for his child, ruled the criminal court of appeals today, affirming the imprisonment of Lawrence Owens of Beaver county. Owens refused to call a physician when his young daughter, Cora, lay seriously ill with typhoid fever in November and December, 1908.

In court Owen and wife testified that their religious belief prevented their summoning medical aid in time of illness.

Sulphur Banks Consolidate.

Sulphur, Ok., June 20.—The bank of Commerce of this city today under the direction of the State Banking Board, took over the business of Security State bank with its assets of $155,000, the Security State going out of business. The Bank of Commerce for some time has been considered one of the strong banks of this section and with the consolidation of the two makes it one of the strongest banks of Oklahoma.

T. J. Hartman is president of the bank of Commerce and Noble Mitchell, cashier.

GOVERNMENT COTTON REPORT FOR 1910

Washington, D. C., June 20, 1911.—Acting Census Director Falkner has transmitted to Secretary Nagel, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, the Census Bureau's Bulletin 111, which is the annual report on the production of cotton and the manufacture of cottonseed products for 1910. The statistics were collected and compiled under the supervision of William M. Stewart, chief statistician for manufactures, assisted by H. J. Zimmerman.

The report is presented in four divisions: Annual cotton production in the United States, as returned by ginners and delinters, distributed by states and counties from 1906 to 1910, inclusive, with statistics of production for previous years; world's cotton production from 1907 to 1910, by countries; supply and distribution of cotton in the United States for specified periods in 1909, 1910 and 1911; and the statistics for the manufacture of cotton seed products collected at the census of manufactures in 1910.

During the season of 1910-11, as in previous years, 10 preliminary reports of cotton ginned to specified dates were issued. The present report gives the aggregate of the figures included in the preliminary statements, and covers the twelfth consecutive year for which statistics of cotton ginned have been collected and published by this bureau.

In addition to the statistics of production, the bureau publishes each season a complementary report on the supply and distribution of cotton for the year ending August 31, and three reports showing stocks of cotton in this country held, respectively, on November 1, January 1, and March 1.

The estimated value of the crop of 1910, the most valuable ever produced in the United States is $963,180,000 compared with $812,090,000 for 1909; $681,230,000 for 1908; $700,960,000 for 1907; and $721,650,000 for 1906.

The value of the crop of 1910 is $151,090,000, or 18.6 per cent, more than that of 1909, notwithstanding the fact that the quantity of cotton is only 1,690,306 bales, or 16 per cent, greater.

The value of the cotton crops of the five-year period ending with 1910 is $3,879,110,000, while the value of the five-year period ending with 1909 is $1,529,500,000.

During the last five years the price of lint cotton has averaged about 12 cents per pound, or about $60 per bale, and the value of the cotton seed has increased from $13.80 per ton in 1906 to $27.40 per ton in 1910.

The value of a 500-pound bale of cotton, including the value of the seed, was $87.15 in 1910, compared with $50.87 for 1904 and with $30.22 in 1898. To the producer of a crop of 20 bales this means that whereas he realized $604 in 1898, he received $1,743 in 1910, which increase, notwithstanding a greater cost of production at the present time, measures the difference between a mere existence and a comfortable and independent living.

Over Twelve Million Bales in 1910.

The quantity of cotton reported for the crop of 1910, with linters included and round bales counted as half bales, is 11,965,962 running bales; expressed in gross 500-pound bales, the crop amounted to 12,005,688 bales, which is 1,690,306 bales or 16.4 per cent, less than the crop of 1908.

The average annual production of cotton in the United States for the past five years is 12,175,867 bales, or 170,179 bales more than the crop of 1910. Of the total production in 1910, the territory east of the Mississippi River contributed 6,701,447 bales, or 55.8 per cent, compared with 6,093,334 bales, or 59.1 per cent, in 1909, and 7,355,178 bales, or 54.1 per cent, in 1908. The states west of the Mississippi river returned 5,304,241 bales, or 44.2 per cent, in 1910, compared with 4,222,048 bales, or 40.9 per cent, in 1909, and 6,232,128 bales, or 45.9 per cent, in 1908. During the five-year period 1906-1910 the states east of the Mississippi contributed 54.4 per cent of the aggregate production, while those west of that river produced 45.6 per cent. The smallest aggregate production by the states east of the Mississippi in this period was 6,093,334 bales in 1909, and the largest 7,355,178 bales in 1908, a variation of 1,261,844 bales; the smallest aggregate production by the states west of the river was 4,222,048 bales in 1909 and the largest 7,233,210 bales in 1906, a variation of 3,011,162 bales. Although the percentage of the total production contributed by the two sections has fluctuated greatly for individual years, the actual production in the eastern section has been comparatively regular.

THE GOSPEL TENT AT 16TH AND ASH

The people were out in their wagons and buggies at the tent meeting being conducted at 16th and Ash by Leroy M. Anderson. The audience was very responsive last night and the spirit of the service very helpful. Some fifty people last night stated they had been working for the meeting and inviting others to attend. A great many more said they would work for the services today.

The subject last night was "The Touch of Christ." Tonight the theme will be "Who could it Be but Jesus?" Come in your shirt sleeves and enjoy the cool evening under the tent.

Sapulpa Has $100,000 Fire.

Sapulpa, Okla., June 20.—After burning for thirty-six hours and resulting in a loss of $100,000, the flames in the oil tank farm of the Sapulpa Refining company, six miles north of here, were placed under control shortly after daylight, Tuesday morning. Six tanks were consumed, although the company was able to remove a portion of the oil from some of the tanks which resulted in a saving of possibly fifty per cent of the oil stored in them. The ruins are still smoldering and the farm is being carefully guarded to prevent an outbreak of the flames again. The company announced Tuesday morning that the property was fully insured and as soon as an adjustment can be made, they will rebuild the reservoirs.

During the progress of the fire great clouds of black smoke have passed over the city, almost obscuring the sun at times.

HOW ABOUT IT?

Although many signed their names to the list of members of the Chamber of Commerce, there are some citizens in the town who should be intensely interested in the work, but who seem content to sit idly by and let others carry the burden which of right belongs to them. These men will profit as much as any others from the work of the organization, and if they want to spend their lives in some moss-covered village, instead of a thriving young city, they should move out and make room for men with progressive ideas. While some of these fellows are not knock-ers, exactly, their conduct makes them very strong allies of the knock-ers. One thing is certain: if Ada is to make any progress worth mentioning, it is time to be boosting. Other towns are up and moving, and unless Ada does likewise, she will not be as good a town ten years hence as she is today. Towns no longer "just happen." They are built by hard work and by the eternal vigilance of boosters who never sleep, but who keep their eyes open for every opportunity to improve their town. The writer has no desire to live in a retreat for bats and owls. He loves Ada and is ambitious to see her reckoned as the very best young city of the state.

It is a plain business proposition, gentlemen. A man who refuses to carry his share of the load certainly deserves to live in one of the deserted, bat-infested villages that stand as tombstones to the slothful inhabitants of what were once flourishing towns, but which were permitted to die because the people trusted to luck and Providence to keep the town moving instead of putting their own shoulders to the wheel.

Yesterday we ran an Oklahoma City dispatch concerning a proposed order to the Pioneer Telephone Co. in a town where the manager has been rather slow about keeping up with his business. By an oversight the date line was left off, and it appeared as if it referred to Ada. We wish to state, however, that it does not, for Manager Thatcher is right there on his job and keeps up with everything in the most approved manner.

This is the longest day of the year.

for the next six months will gradually shorten the length of time he smiles of December come round again.

Senator Lea's Sacrifice.

Press dispatches tell of the heroism of Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee, who to save his dying wife gave up a quart of blood from his athletic body. As a result of the new blood flowing in her veins, the young wife is in a fair way to recover, although the husband is in some danger as a result of his sacrifice. While there may be thousands of others who would have done the same thing, the act of the devoted young husband was none the less one of those beautiful examples of true devotion such as should be the guiding spirit of every home. It is in striking contrast with the divorce mills of Reno and is just one more case showing that where true love reigns in the home there is no sacrifice which will not be made. Had the case been reversed Mrs. Lea would probably have given up her blood just as willingly as did her husband. A marriage of that kind is no failure, no matter what may be the result of the great majority.

IS IT FAIR?

The oft-repeated slogan, "Trade at home," has been printed and reprinted by every newspaper in the country, and the reasons given have pretty well taken root in the minds of the people generally, but yet there are a few who patronize the mail-order concerns.

The real education against the practice is being perfected, and the more our people look into the injustice of such practice the more perfect they will be in harmony with "Trade at Home" methods.

Never was a community benefited by its people sending their money off to a foreign concern—when what is needed can be purchased at home.

The people should take this matter to heart seriously. It is no light matter.

Upon the subject of "Is it Fair?" the Ardmoreite furnishes the following questioning and reasoning:

"Did you ever send to Chicago for a bill of hardware and find when it came that you had forgotten 50 cents worth of nails? Did you send to Chicago for them or did you go to the hardware store and buy them?"

"Did you ever send away for an advertised special value in lumber or sash and doors and find on receipt of the goods that the mail order house "forgot" some of the essentials? Did you send away for the balance or did you go to the local lumber dealer to get what was missing?"

"Did you ever solicit a contribution for charity from some land promotion company a thousand miles away or from a mail-order house in Chicago, New York, or San Francisco?"

"If you have tried it you will know it won't work. But you don't hesitate to go after the real estate man, the grocer, the hardware dealer or the lumberman here at home when you have some little money raising scheme to put through. And generally they 'come across' without a murmur."

"In other words, do you play fair with your friend, the local business man?"

Or do you use him as a convenience

House Passes Wool Schedule.

Washington, June 20.—By the decisive vote of 221 to 100 the house this afternoon passed the wool bill.
One democrat, Representative Francis of Ohio, and ninety-nine republicans voted against the measure. For the measure were 194 democrats, 26 republicans and 1 socialist. Representative Berger of Wisconsin.

All things considered it was the most sweeping victory that the house democrats have won in the unbroken series they have placed to their credit during the ten weeks the special session has been at work. It is the sixth important piece of legislation that the house has disposed of in the last few weeks. The other notable measures acted on and sent to the senate were the bills providing for the publicity of campaign expenses before as well as after elections, for the admission to statehood of Arizona and New Mexico, for reciprocity with Canada and the farmers' free list bill and the resolutions submitting to the states the proposed constitutional amendments for the popular election of senators.

gant and modern building erected by one that is a credit to a town much

The latest addition to the prosperous condition of Francis and vicinity ings on the corner of Main and sioners and board of township trustees to work to give us the long needed improvement.

The excellent rain that fell Sunday morning and the fall in temperature has saved the farmers thousands of dollars and but a better spirit in all of the people.

The survey for the light plant wires has been completed and we have the promise that the light plant people will be here to go to work on the plant in the near future. So our prospects are good for lights and an ice plant in about four weeks.

The Allen and Francis base ball teams crossed bats on home ground Sunday resulting in favor of Allen 3 to 1. Pitcher Looney's arm was on the bum. He was not in his usual form. The visitors got after him for nine runs while Allen's twirler held the locals to one run. The star fielding of Stevens for Francis was the feature of the game.

If we had it in our power we would put the Sir Knights of the dishpan and hickory club in the stocks for their natural life. They began their charivari in one block of our wigwam making the shingles rattle for four hours keeping us awake until after midnight. We don't wish to be hard on the gallants of the town but our sleepy feelings almost prompt us to state that if they were brought before us this morning that we would give them the full extent of the law and then some.

We have been informed by Mr. Poor foreman of the water works, that the boilers, engine and pumps are now here and that he is unloading them at the pump station.

HOW MUCH Is a Regular Cus- tomer Worth to Your Store?

Suppose you could BUY 100 additional REGULAR CUSTOMERS during the next week or two—customers who, for years and years to come, would make a MAJORITY of their purchases of goods in your line at YOUR 100 customers be worth to you?

It is, we think, quite likely that if such an investment were possible, you'd eagerly pay TWICE AS MUCH as it would cost you to secure these 100 through an advertising campaign big enough and aggressive enough to really

Most of the faculty of the normal

Returning From Head-Hunt

The canoes constructed by the natives of the Solomon Islands are not dug-outs, but are built of planks about half an inch thick. They are of all sizes, from the eight-foot-long craft to the tomako for war or head-hunting, a fine example of which may measure 44 feet in length, have a beam of four feet eight inches, and carry five-and-thirty men. The picture is of a tomako in New Georgia. It shows the decoration of the bow, and the one behind it depicts the stern of a similar one. Fixed on the top of the bow is a large bunch of white feathers, and down the front on a slight frame of woodwork is a row of large cowrie shells. In between each of these is a short stick with a tuft of feathers at the end. At the lower part of the bow, and just above the water-line, is a small carved human head resting on its two closed fists; this is a very important little god and is named Totishu. He is there to keep off the evil spirits of the water and of storms—the Kesoko. He must also look out for an enemy, or a dangerous reef. The sides of the canoes are covered with a vegetable putty, that turns black soon after it is put on. Into this are inlaid small circles of mother-of-pearl. The inlaid semicircle just behind the little carved head is the natives' representation of the foam rainbow that appears at the bow of the canoe when passing swiftly through the water. Just below the second figure in the canoe is a white arm and hand, marked in lime; it is to show that heads have been taken at the last successful raid.

Healthy Mothers

The bearing of children is frequently followed by poor health for the mother. This supreme crisis of life finding her physical system unprepared for the demands of nature, leaves her with weakened resistive powers and sometimes chronic ailments. This can be avoided if Mother's Friend is used before the coming of baby, and the healthy woman can remain a healthy mother. It is the only remedy that perfectly and thoroughly prepares the system for healthy motherhood, and brings about a natural and easy consummation of the term. Women who use Mother's Friend are always saved much suffering when the little one arrives, and recover more quickly, and with no ill effects, or chronic troubles. Every expectant mother should safeguard her health by using Mother's Friend, thus preparing her physical condition for the hour of motherhood. This medicine is for sale at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers.

PRIZE FIGHT WILL BE PULLED OFF ELSEWHERE

Tulsa, Okla., June 21.—B. F. Ufer, manager of the Carl Morris-Jim Flynn fight, scheduled to be held at Tulsa July 4, issued a statement tonight that the fight would not be fought in Oklahoma.

According to Mr. Ufer, the training camp he established for Carl Morris here soon after he bought the contract for the engineer, will be deserted as soon as suitable quarters for the summer can be found. He says he may take Morris to Europe.

A number of Oklahoma City business men have asked that the fight be held there, saying that the law is faulty and they wish the Morris-Flynn match for a test case. Business men here are indignant over the action taken by the governor. They say that the fight fans at Sapulpa are jealous because they lost Morris, have caused the step.

"I have had several offers to stage the bout in cities in other states," said Mr. Ufer Tuesday night, "but as I have not accepted any of them, I do not care to make them public. The people elected Governor Cruce, and he has taken the trouble to stop the bout in this state. From that I take it that Oklahoma citizens are not interested in the location of the bout, which will be staged some time after the 4th of July.

"The only reason I consented to stage the bout in Oklahoma in the first place was because of the insistence of Tulsa citizens and friends of Carl Morris. Several cities will pay better for the bout and would provide better crowds.

"I do not think that any Oklahoma law would be violated if the bout were held here, but I do not care to give the governor an opportunity to make a grandstand play at the last minute on the day it would be held. Morris and Flynn both wanted to meet in this state, Morris especially as this will be the greatest test of his ability. The bout is sure to be held, though where I cannot as yet state."

TEXANS LYNCH MEXICAN BOY

Thorndale, Milam Co., Tex., June 20.—Lynched by a mob of infuriated citizens, following a fatal stabbing of Charley Zeischang, aged about 35, a 12-year-old Mexican boy paid the extreme penalty on the streets of Thorndale last night about 9 o'clock when he was hanged from a ladder hastily improvised into a scaffold by a phone pole.

For several hours prior to the lynching the town was at fever heat, and feeling against Mexicans ran high. At a late hour conditions seem to have taken a turn for the better and the best citizenship has the upper hand.

The Mexican boy, it is said, was going along the track of the International and Great Northern, about sundown, whittling upon a piece of plank. Some one told him to stop whittling and he replied that he would do as he pleased.

Zeischang, it is said, took the plank from the boy's hands, striking him with it. The boy, it is said, lunged at Zeischang, plunging his pocket-knife in his left side, just above the heart. Zeischang fell to the ground and expired almost immediately.

The Mexican boy, whose name could not be ascertained, fled, but was captured and taken to the calaboose. Feeling ran so high, however, that the constable deemed it best he be spirited away to the county seat, Cameron, about twenty-three miles distant. He was unable to secure a conveyance.

The mob gathered quickly and getting trail of the boy, took him and hurried him to a telegraph pole on the International and Great Northern railroad, about fifty yards from town. A ladder was placed up against the pole, a rope tied around the boy's neck and he was quickly drawn up to the top rung of the ladder, where he choked to death. The mob dispersed.

Little is known of the boy. He was an undersized little fellow and nothing more than a child.

Zeischang was owner of an automobile garage and had resided here for about three years. He leaves a widow and four children.

FISH THAT WALK ON LAND WORLD BIGGEST WATER PIPE

One of the strangest fishes in the world is the "goby," which can swim, but prefers to walk. Often it is seen climbing on the roots of mangroves in Florida, using its pectoral fins after the manner of legs.

In the Philippines there is a fish called the "poyo," which spends a large part of its time out of water. In fact, it soon dies if prevented from the leaving the water. Sometimes it climbs trees to a considerable height.

Another fish of the Philippines, known as the "terebug," is fond of taking walks on land, and catches mice and even rats on occasion, devouring them with great relish. It attains a length of three feet.

This extraordinary photograph gives some idea of the great size of the water conduit just constructed at Albeda, Spain, on the Aragon and Catalan canal. The workmen are seen demonstrating its huge dimensions by holding on to its ribs, to show that the circumference equals the height of seven men. The length of the water pipe is about 823 yards. It is the work of a Spanish engineer, Senor Mariano Luina, of Gijon.

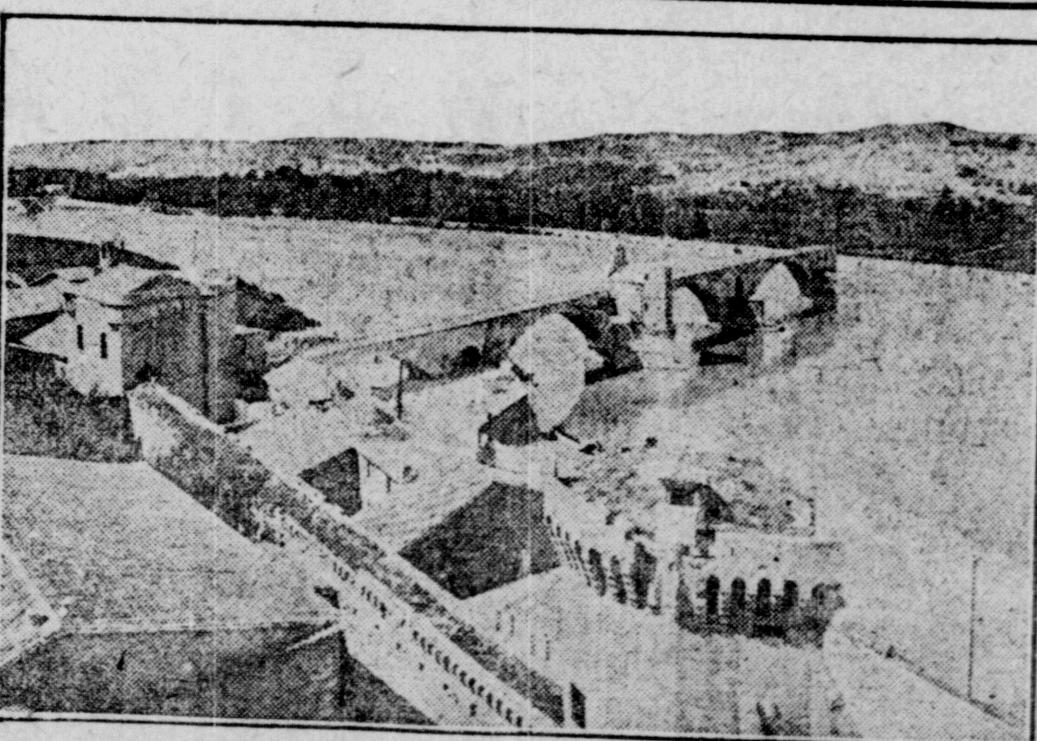

MAN WHO HAS SILVER RIBS

The story of a wonderful operation, in which silver ribs have been supplied to a man, was told by Maj. A. T. Craig at a gathering of Soldiers' and Sailors' Help society in London. The occasion was the distribution of Christmas hampers subscribed for by public school boys and others. There was a box of delicacies, the major said, which was intended for a man who was badly wounded in South Africa, and got practically all his ribs broken. He had been working in a sort of steel jacket since, until at a hospital in London a very wonderful operation had been recently performed. The man had been supplied with practically a new set of silver ribs.

FORGOTTEN FOR 32 YEARS

The trustees of the Alexandra palace, London, have received from a man living in Melbourne, Australia, a money order for 8s. This amount, he writes, is "double the cost of three little books I borrowed from the Alexandra palace reading room about the year 1878 and failed to return—a thing which I suddenly remembered about a week ago.

Old Bridge of Saint Benezet

The old French town of Avignon has no more interesting or picturesque feature than the bridge of Saint Benezet, which is centuries old. According to the legend, Benezet was a shepherd lad who appeared before the bishop of Avignon and said Christ had told him to build a bridge across the Rhone. The bishop promptly ordered the boy to be flayed alive, but Benezet showed his supernatural power by moving a stone 13 feet long and 7 feet broad, and all the people, including the bishop, believed in his divine mission. So Benezet built the bridge as it stands today, and almost in its center was constructed a chapel, in which were interred the remains of the saint after his death.
